

Note:

1. This script makes reference to a combination of the causation theory of sakyamuni (the buddha) and the materialism doctrine of karl marx; it helps strengthen the conditions necessary for combining qualitatively spiritual civilization development and material civilization development.
2. Persons who are destined for poor futures are those who profit from fictitious cultural tradition and profoundness (include those who cheat with godly, mystic or religious powers)
3. Before 11am each day, please put some money (any amount is fine) into a pot labeled "joy with giving" and the saving later is donated for charity. Look towards the eastern direction and contemplate at a previous good deed of yours, set the mind and concentration on an imagined golden light radiated from the centre of your heart, then say out aloud or in silence the Millennium Blessing script above. This will help your career and bring luck to your family in a way you should be able to feel later. If there are questions, please write me an email. Those helping to circulate the script will grow with blessing and wisdom.

Break Superstition, Foster the Right & Seek the Truth Pragmatically

In the history of human civilization and development, sages have, against the cultural values of their time, designed for people with different levels of mental potential various religious faiths and methods of cultivation to suit the then prevailing needs of society. Today we have entered a new era of cultivation to suit the then prevailing needs of society. Today we have entered a new era of rapid development with severe pressure and anxiety to people's lives. Those enlightened should have the courage and responsibility to improve the culture and exhibit in the world the essence rather than the waste of culture. I have promised my teacher of wisdom, Dr. Walpola Sri Rahula, to share what I have gained with those who possess suitable conditions. The specially designed script provided below entitled "Millennium Blessing" is what I have done to help contemporary people in their cultivation.

While rain falls on the same ground, grasses that have no root will not benefit from it, it is sincerely hoped that those blessed ones who read this special script can make good use of four kinds of energies: first, the energy attributed to the realm of dharma, a form of energy which is invisible, impermanent but real; second, the interactive turning force driven by the causative chains of the universe; third, the mutually restraining and invigorating energy stemming from the seven elements of earth, water, fire, air, time, space, and consciousness; and finally, the energy transformed from the properties of magnet, electricity, sound, light, the sun, the moon and the stars, using these energies for the right purposes helps to create rational and harmonious societies with solid and superb living for the people.
